

REPROBATE CONSTRUCTS ATTACK H'ZN'S STRONGHOLD!

CITIZENS DEFEND HOMES . BRAVE CHARGE LED BY CHANGELING 'PRINCESS'

Panic gripped the green streets of Horizon's Stronghold as hundreds of rogue constructs, doubtless repurposed by the enemies of Oz, ravaged the town—setting fires, destroying property, attacking citizens, and generally causing a much unwanted hullabaloo. The farming constructs were searching for farmers that they claimed had been taken by strongholders. Attacking near-indiscriminately, the constructs harmed many but were prevented from killing by the swift actions of heroes such as Monster the Scuddler, Honey Bear, Roman Blake, Thomas Silverglass, and the lovely Miss Nue—all led by brave sheriff Princess. Miss Nue, herself a construct (though with beauty and charm far beyond that of the simple farming constructs), was able to not only aid fallen fighters but also disable the attackers and repurpose their cogwork brains to peaceful purposes.

Three huzzahs for our courageous and clever heroes! Huzzah! Huzzah! Huzzah!

GRAVEMOSS SCANDAL FORCES OUT MAYOR

GRAVEMOSS TEMP. MAYOR, AS GRAVEMOSS STEPS DOWN

This last market-day Mayor Gravemoss was confronted by dozens of angry farmers and representatives of associated trades from the rural areas that support and feed Horizon's Stronghold. Alleging gross wrongdoing and voicing a litany of genuine and serious complaints, the farmers accused Gravemoss of misappropriation of funds, of diverting vital aid from the county to protect his interests, and of using government funds for brothel-related expenses. Worse, they accused Gravemoss of trying to ruin the farms of rivals to attain a monopoly on food production.

The mayor became enraged and lunged into the startled crowd, causing the intervention of Thomas Silverglass and Roman Blake to protect the innocent from harm at hands of the attacking Gravemoss.

While this paper is not privy to all details of the ensuing investigation, it is known that Major Gravemoss stepped down within the hour and Gravemoss has been appointed interim mayor, most likely at the suggestion of Gravemoss. Gravemoss promises that their policies will be substantially different from those of Gravemoss, and that the reign of Gravemoss will be a break from the just-ended reign of Gravemoss.

THE WIZARD RETURNS?

IS THIS THE START OF A NEW GOLDEN AGE IN OZ, OR NOT?

Rumors swirl around the possible return of the eponymous wizard, known to some as Oz the Great and Powerful, known to others as the Wonderful Wizard of Oz.

The news from some in the Emerald City indicates that the wizard has indeed returned, promising to restore the Great Spell and banish death itself from the world.

Although some have called him the 'Hur[redacted]zard' it must be pointed out that he managed to overthrow several powerful magic users and was instrumental in setting in motion the events that led to the defeat of the Wicked Witch of the West.

Most wizards and witches are currently withholding any & all judgement on if the wizard has returned, his intentions, and if the wizard can and will restore the Great Spell...if that is even possible.

ZIPPER-HEAD DETECTIVE WOWS M'VING- PICTURES SHOW WITH UNEXPECTED MAGIC TRICKS

THIS PAPER ASKS: CAN
DANNY PERFORM POOL-
PLAYING AND DREAM-
WALKING TOO?

A showing of the moving picture show "Sherlock Junior" was interrupted by magic, seemingly by Danny the Zipper-Head Detective. The moving-pictures show purported to reveal many secrets of detectives, including their secret book, their ability to ghost-walk when dreaming, and their amazing pool-paying abilities. Detectives from the land of Ŭsa also have an amazing ability to make their mustaches vanish at will, according to the moving-pictures show.

When asked if he too had these abilities, Danny the Zipper-Head Detective gestured at the screen, making a dark spot appear to obscure the on-screen antics of the character of Sherlock Junior. Despite the best efforts of Thomas Silverglass, noted moving-pictures show impresario, the shadow remained. No cleaning of the lantern-glass or interventions on his part were effective in undoing whatever had been done.

Most patrons of the Red Poppy stayed until the conclusion of the moving-pictures show; but were disappointed that Danny refused to aid in the removal of his dark spot.

WAR LATEST: ARE GNOMES & COYOTES IN LEAGUE?

HORIZON'S STRONGHOLD
RAIDED BY EGG THIEVES!
VERY EXPENSIVE STOCKINGS
RUINED! FARMS BURNED!

We are troubled to report that the latest raids in Horizon County have seemingly seen Coyotes and Gnomes working in concert, both attacking outlying farms. Some pundits posit that these two groups are not working together, and that the wild coyote changelings are just opportunistically attacking under-defended areas.

It is troubling that the gnomes (famously and deathly allergic to eggs) and the coyotes (who raid chicken brothels and eat eggs, so depleting our defenses) have such synergy in their actions—almost as if coordinated as part of a combined effort to starve us out.

If you have any knowledge of any movements or any activities of any coyotes or any gnomes, this should be reported to the Scarecrow's Outpost or to the local sheriff as soon as they are known to you, if not sooner.

MARVELOUS MISS NUE REPAIRS RECOVERED CONSTRUCTS

FAMED LOCAL BEAUTY
VOLUNTEERS TIME AND EXPERTISE TO WAR EFFORT

After the recent attacks on Horizon Stronghold, Miss Nue toured local farms, fixing damaged constructs and seeing to the needs of the injured and destitute. With her were noted stormrider Doctor Malarkey, and Thomas Silverglass.

Through their efforts some of the farms were bought back into good working order, though many others were beyond saving at this time and further privation and famine should be expected in the coming year.

After touring the farms Miss Nue turned her attention to the needs of our Antfolk allies—by looking after their young she freed the brave tunnel-fighters to seek out our gnomish enemies in the tunnels under the farmland of Horizon County. With her were many farmers' wives who had lost their farms to the war. We wish to thank our ant allies. Thanks ants. Thants.

FORMER FARMER S'V'RGLASS

We wish to thank to Mr T. Silverglass, a horny-handed son of toil, who helped assuage the fears and calm the anger of the farmers who attended the last town meeting. His wise words avoided further violence after the incident with the now-former mayor Gravemoss.

A LETTER TO THE CURRENT MAYOR

Written By: A Grubber Who Fears Reprisals From

Oz has turned its back on the grubbers. I've been raisin' crops and tilling soil for forty years now, and my father, grand-father, great-grandfather, [etc] were all grubbers before me. We used to get respect 'round these parts, when people still remembered where their food was comin' from. My farm went up in flames 'bout a week ago, and not a darn individual has been willin' to help 'ceptin good Miss Nue. My constructs are gone without a trace, my crops are nothin' but soot, and my livelihood is destroyed. What are you gonna do when every last crop in the county is shriveled up and turned to ash? I bet it'll only matter when you realize it's gonna affect you, and by then it'll be too late. When the onions die, how will you cry? When the corn dies, what vegetable will run for mayor only to be abused and tortured by the local parlor's owners? When the tomatoes die, what will you throw at lackluster performers? You don't even realize the disaster you're ignoring simply 'cause it ain't your and yet you can't be bothered to care 'bout the crops dyin' in vain. When did you get so up that you don't even care for our kinfolk no more? These times are a-changing', and

CANDIDATE BLAKE

"FOR THE PEOPLE"

My name is Roman Blake, and I am running for Mayor of Horizon Stronghold I want to build a better future Far too often we find ourselves in situation out of our controls by planning out months or even years in advance we can blunt these and give ourselves better tools to deal with them this comes from supporting and relying on an active community update the trade routes from the Oldlairbee county and encourage those with special skill to succeed at their profession we live in a great community and I would be honored to represent it I have many plans for those curious I would love to explain them just stop by the Emporium in Horizon Stronghold and I can elaborate Thank you and help me build a better future

NOTE: THE ARTICLE "A THEORY ON THE NATURE OF OZ (PART 1 OF SERIES) BY ZILBI GLOWWING" HAS BEEN ENTIRELY CENSORED. CITIZENS ARE ADVISED NOT TO DISCUSS TREASON, [REDACTED], REVOLUTION, OR [REDACTED].

CANDIDATE NUE

"STRONGHOLD STRONG"

My name is Miss Nue, and I am running for Mayor of Horizon Stronghold. I want us to work together to build a better future. Tough choices are often faced by our community, choices where whichever path is chosen somebody benefits and somebody is harmed. Recently we've seen the harm that comes from our choices where strengthening our trade links and rebuilding led to food shortages and attacks on outlying farms. Had we chosen differently we would have secured the farms but left ourselves militarily exposed and facing other issues. My heart is with those farmers, and we must do better in future.

I pledge the following

- I will always work to make the best choices
- Where there is no evident best choice, I shall choose using a system that avoids any appearance of partiality or bias (the Wheel of Fun).
- I shall appoint experts to advise me and oversee specific projects. Those who have already proved themselves capable will remain in their current positions.

Together we can get through these tough times together, because together we are strong.

A LETTER REGARDING TATTYPOO

by Emma, a witch

It's a little-known fact that Locasta Tattypoo (a figure worthy of entire books' worth of glowing praise) once operated a [redacted].

[redacted]. We're not sure how long it was in operation, but at its peak, it was home to dozens of witches, most of whom were primed to share the arts of light and healing across the whole of Oz.

How do I know this? Well, you could say I'm a student. I found it long after it was abandoned, but I did still read all the same curriculum a student would have, practiced spells where they would have, wander the halls they would have. I certainly feel like a student, regardless of whether I met a single teacher there.

Which brings me to the point of this article. Me and my friend Zilbi, previously the [redacted] Mental Energy and Health Assessor, cannot uncover what it was that ended the [redacted]. More importantly, since nearly all of Locasta's students were orphans, they couldn't have possibly died of age. They ought to be alive somewhere, but unfortunately, our only leads have run dry.

If anyone has any information on students or teachers of Locasta Tattypoo's [redacted], please inform either myself or Zilbi Glowing. We can often be found on the far side of town, past the Scarecrow outpost, in the newly founded Elderberry Academy of Witchcraft. While we can't pay you for your help, the lasting gratitude of [redacted] witches shouldn't be underestimated.

DOWN ON THE FARM

Written By: Mr Anonnnymous Grubber

Nobody seems to understand grubbers, or how hard we work. There's a lot that goes into it, you know. It all starts with a couple hoes and some good ol' fashioned plowing. I work up a hell of a sweat from all the plowing, but once it's done I can finally spread my seed across the lot. You gotta spread your seed [redacted], and be mindful of the bush surrounding the [redacted]. You don't wanna get it in the bush, cause once you do you can't get it out and it's no good. It doesn't stop there, though. You can take a good rest at the end of the day, but once the sun rises it's back to it. It'll take weeks, even months, to see the results, but let me tell ya- there's nothing better than waiting [redacted] to [redacted] the biggest, juiciest melons you've ever seen. You can tell the quality of a melon by just feeling it, you know. Now, melons are my favorite [redacted], but I also [redacted] plenty of other stuff. I've [redacted] the thickest cucumbers, the plumpest [redacted], and an endless supply of [redacted]. I swear, I could get addicted to [redacted]. There's no better feeling than stripping it bare and eating it raw, if you ask me. Finally, when harvest is said and done, I gather up my hoes an' do it all over again.

PERSONALS

Citizens of Horizon Stronghold, It will be a pleasure to finally address your town in person, disregarding the inauspicious condition of the county seat, importunate members of the civil authority, and my own extraordinarily busy schedule. It has come to my attention that one of my precious anguish sprites has caused distress to a citizen of Horizon Stronghold. While I believe, as an immortal being created by the emotion and experiences of the living, despair is an integral part of living - and the notion that individuals should fight this feeling is ridiculous - it is a misconception that the intention of myself, and the actions of my sweets have coincided in intention. I am elated to inform your civil authority, and leaders, that the careless being that harmed yours has been punished severely.
